> CAPT. BEMUSDAFFER.-We clip the following from a recent letter dated at Huntsville, Ala

The cotton trade is very lively here, and every other man you meet appears to be interested in it The risks are great, but so likewise are the prof its. Among those whom I have recently seen in Huntsville engaged in this business, is Captain Bemusdaffer, formerly of General Dumont's staff. He resigned his military position some time after our troops arrived in Nashville, and is now domentioned. I am sorry to say that he had a nice lot of cotton burned, a few days since, by some secesh scoundrels, in the vicinity of Bellefonte.

The recent dog ordinance passed by the City Council is oppressive onerous illegitimate and unconstitutional. Dogs are taxed by the State; taxed for the benefit of county officials; taxed for the benefit of township officials; and now they are to be taxed for the benefit of municipal officials, whose pockets are already swelling with fat fees. Truly, the world in and about Indianapolis is governed somewhat. Not only the poor dogs have to suffer, but the poor man's hog comes in for its share. These wise City Fathers, who establish and salary Boards of Health, seem not to be aware that the hogs in summer months are the best scavengers we have, worth a thousand and one assistant street commissioners or day policemen, with the chain gang included.

MEMPHIS, June 11 - Quiet pervades the entire city. The ready submission of the inhabitants to Federal rule is not only surprising but gratifying. Mr. Colfax regarded a Conference Committee a necessary evil, but at the same time they ought to reduce the disagreeing amendments to the smallest possible number, and then send the latter to the Conference Committee. answer to their constituents. He believed that three times to get his body, but it was carried off all the amendments could be considered in three or four days. STATUTES OF INDIANA.

GAVIN & HORD'S REVISION.

The second volume of Mesers. Gavin & Hord's compiletion of Indians Statutes has just appeared. This volume completes their work. Its mechanical execution is very creditable; and the skill, learning, and labor which the editors have bestowed on it, merit the highest praise. None but learned, diligent lawyers could have produced such a work. The second volume embraces all the public statutes of Indiana now in force upon the subjects to which it releas, and the first all excepting the acts of the last regular and extra sessions of the Legislature. It is a great excellence of the compflation that all existing statutes on each subject are collected together in the same place in these volumes; so that the reader can see at a glance all the legislation in force on any given subject. Take, for example, the act of 1852, organizing Courts of Common Pleas-the editors publish the act at large, and they also print, in the form of notes on the same pages containing this statute, all the acts amendatory to it which have been passed up to this time. And so they have done of all the other acts contained in the revision of 1852. The editors have added much to the value of these volumes-especially the last-by the copious and learned notes with which the volumes abound. These notes indicate much labor and legal acumen. They furnish us, in a concise and accurate form, with all the adjudications of our Supreme/Court on these statutes. These adjudications being now very numerous, the references to them in the volumes under consideration, will be of great value to the lawyer, and indeed to all persons concerned in the administration of justice. The editors have also referred. in their notes, to numerous decisions in other States, made on statutes similar to ours. An excellence of these volumes, not to be overlooked, is the full and accurate index appended to each. In Indiana, there never has been a good index to any volumes of statutes published by authority. This provoking defect has been completely remedled in the volumes under review; and these indexes will greatly lighten the labor of all who have occasion to look into our statutes. This is the first time that private enterprize has attempted the publication of Indiana statutes. The attempt, I do not doubt, will be successful, and will duly reward the learned editors and enterprizing publishers. Every lawyer will, of course, purchase these volumes; and every clerk, sheriff, and justice of the peace of the State, will find it to his advantage to own them.

DAVID M'DONALD. The foregoing notice by Judge McDonald, of Gavin & Hoan's Compilation of the Statutes of Indiana, is not designed as a puff of the work, but is an unsolicited commendation of the ability, accuracy, and completeness with which these volumes have been prepared. The second volume, which has just been issued from the press, is being delivered to subscribers as rapidly as possible. This edition of the simutes will be found a ne cessity to every lawyer, justices of the peace, and county officers in the State. The publication of the work is a private enterprise, and the publishers' only hope for remuneration is in its sale to those for whose convenience it was prepared. The two volumes contain about 1600 pages of matter, nearly double the quantity embraced in

The price of the work is $4 50 per volume, or $9 00 for the two volumes. Orders addressed to the subscriber will
